

Is your blood glucose normal and healthy?

It should be! Your blood is your life and healthy glucose levels are critical for survival! And, just as important, maintaining healthy insulin levels and response is vital for blood sugar balance. Eating healthy, exercising and taking the right nutraceutical support helps your body maintain its ability to produce appropriate insulin and blood glucose factors, and protect your cells.

VIVA's GlucoGuard™ is scientifically-designed to provide a powerful team of nutrients that work to help your body maintain healthy blood sugar metabolism.

Antioxidant Vitamins A, C, and E

- Fight free-radical damage to protect red blood cells, capillaries and delicate mitochondria DNA, as well as the myelin sheaths around peripheral nerves for proper muscle stimulation.

Biotin

- Activates the glucokinase enzyme necessary for functions related to blood sugar metabolism, helps release of insulin, stimulates the expression of genes important to maintaining glycemic control, enhances activity of chromium yeast and helps regulate carbohydrate metabolism.

Pantothenic Acid (Vitamin B5)

- Essential for normal metabolism and helping the body convert food energy into blood sugar and support the formation of healthy red blood cells.

Magnesium and Manganese

- Triggers the activity of hundreds of enzymes and maintains electrochemical balance necessary for neurons and muscles to work properly.

Chromium Yeast

- Helps re-sensitize and enhance the function of insulin receptors in the cells, which helps insulin do its job of keeping blood sugar levels within the healthy range.

Inositol (Vitamin B8)

- A psuedovitamin necessary for proper insulin receptivity and utilization.

L-Taurine

- An amino acid that helps maintain hydration and electrolyte balance, and helps regulate action of minerals such as magnesium and manganese.

Vanadium

- Helps promote the movement of glucose into the cells.

Young barley powder and spinach powder

- Supplies green food nutrients of chlorophyll and enzymes to support healthy blood cells, digestion, metabolism and alkalization.
